GREATLY IMPROVED.

Condition of State Treasurer Glazier of Michigan.

Chelsea, Mich., Dec. 17.—State Treasurer Frank P. Glazier, whose illness was reported to have reached a critical stage, is now reported greatly improved.

Mr. Glazier has been ill at his home here since the disclosure three weeks ago of financial troubles which involved the Glazier Stove company, the Chelsea Savings bank and other Glazier interests and resulted in Mr. Glazier's resignation being demanded by Governor Warner.

LABOR AND CAPITAL.

Prominent Men Discuss Relations Between Them.

New York, Dec. 17.—Peaceful relations between labor and capital was the theme at the eighth annual banquet of the National Civic Federation, whose members, composed of financiers, employers, labor leaders, publicists and other prominent citizens, gathered in conference here to discuss remedies and legislation for various questions now affecting the body politic. The session of the federation was given over to the discussion of the currency question, Andrew Carnegie, James Speyer, Horace White and Postmaster General von L. Meyer expressing their views. Andrew Carnegie declared that relief must come through asset currency, based on trade bills.

The federation, without committing itself to any definite plan for reform, adopted resolutions which provided that congress should, after careful consideration, pass as speedily as possible, consistent with security and safety, some measures which will impart to our currency system greater elasticity, so urgently demanded throughout the country.

Leaders of labor and finance, mingled with representatives from all branches of human endeavor to the number of over 700, sat down together at the federation banquet, at which George W. Perkins, the banker; General Frederick D. Grant and John Mitchell, president of the Mine Workers' union, spoke. Melville E. Ingalls of Cincinnati acted as toastmaster.

LONG JOURNEY BEGUN

Battleship Fleet Starts on Its Cruise to the Pacific.

SPECTACLE IS MAGNIFICENT

Inspiring Sight Presented by the Great Warships Under Command of Admiral Evans—Roosevelt Reviews the Pageant.

Old Point Comfort, Va., Dec. 17.—Sixteen hard-hitting, steel-belted American battleships, gun-bristling and burly of girth, but sparkling white in their immaculate dressings of peace, sailed away under the dazzling sun of a cloudless winter sky on their famous twin-sea expedition of 14,000 miles, along foreign shores and changing climes, to the west coast of the United States. President Roosevelt, on the bridge of his cruiser-yacht, the Mayflower, personally led the magnificent four-mile line of fighting vessels during the first stages of the voyage. From the anchorage ground in Hampton Roads to the Horseshoe bend of Chesapeake bay his eagle-crested flag of blue pointed the way to the fleet's new home at the Golden Gate. Then, when the wide reaches of the sea were visible through the capes of Virginia, he turned aside and, coming to anchor, reviewed the passing pageant.

The blue of the sky, the stretch of green sea miles, the glistening of spotless hulls, the curl of foam-crested bow-waves, the cheering of sailors afloat and friends ashore, the breeze-blown strains of "Auld Lang Syne" floating across the waters, the blare of trumpets, the ruffle of drums, the flash of signals and the boom of saluting cannon marked the departure of guests on board he was constantly exclaiming upon the beauty and grandeur of the surrounding scenes.

"Did you ever see such a fleet? And such a day? Isn't it magnificent? Oughtn't we all to feel proud?" and then the president had something to say of the enlisted men. In the midst of the reception to the highest officers, he sent for the coxswain of the Louisiana's launch and through him dis-to that ship's crew. It was on the Louisiana that the president made his recent trip to the Isthmus of Panama and ever since that time he has felt a personal interest in all the ship has done. When the surprised and embarrassed coxswain, Seaman William Chandler, had been presented to Mrs. Roosevelt as well as to the president and had again clambered into his launch, the president said to those about him: "I tell you our enlisted men are everything. They are perfectly bully and they are up to every thing required of them. This is indeed a great fleet and a great day."

Admiral Evans, commander-in-chief of the departing fleet, was the first of the flag officers to be piped over the side of the Mayflower. He hurried to where the president stood waiting and bringing his right hand to saluting position, paid his formal respects and gave his personal assurance that the ships of his command were ready for their trip to the other side of the hemisphere. President Roosevelt acknowledged the salute with lifted hat and accepted the formal words of greeting as stilly as they were uttered. Then with the brief ceremony ended he grasped Admiral Evans' hand and gave the heartiest of shakes. The two conversed together informally for a moment or two until other arriving flag and commanding officers set the reception into full swing. When Admiral Evans was about to take his leave and get the fleet under way, the president followed him to the gangway and then called him aside for nearly five minutes of earnest conversation. The president spoke with his usual emphasis and the admiral listened intently with a constant affirmation nod of his head.

During the reception the president was photographed with the officers grouped about him. A marine guard and band were stationed on the Mayflower's decks and the ceremonies of receiving and sending away the visiting officers gave a martial touch of color to the occasion.

Sinister Side to Spectacle.

Rear Admiral Berry, commanding the Norfolk navy yard, journeyed to Hampton Roads on the torpedo boat Stringham to pay his respects to the president, and his dark-hulled, rakish-looking craft passing in and out among the white clad battleships added something of the sinister side to the purpose of a navy's being. Black of hull and funnels, with no touch of color anywhere in the relief, the Stringham glided about like some creepy reptile. There was another torpedo boat in the picture—the Tingey—which acted as convoy to the Mayflower. She remained by the side of the Mayflower throughout the ceremonies.

In parting with the officers of the fleet President Roosevelt was wholly informal and to each had a cordial handclasp, a grasp of the uniformed shoulder and a hearty "good bye, old friend, and good luck."

The Old Point shores and the ramparts of historic old Fortress Monroe were lined with thousands of persons as the fleet lifted anchor and set sail. Other thousands were gathered aboard excursion craft of all descriptions. The government pier projecting far out into the roads at Old Point was a living mass of humanity. In the crowd were gathered wives, sisters and sweethearts of officers and enlisted men, all feeling the common impulse of mingled admiration for the vast marine picture unfolded before them and the heart burnings of a long parting with relatives and friends. It was peculiarly fitting, therefore, that when the flagship Connecticut swept by the pier, the band assembled on the quarter deck should play "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and then more plaintively came the strains of "Auld Lang Syne," followed in turn by the "Star Spangled Banner." It was a pretty infliction that amid the regrets of parting, the call of patriotic duty was at last the one thing to be considered.

EULOGIZES ROOSEVELT.

The London Times Praises the President's Naval Policy.

London, Dec. 17.—The Times in an editorial highly eulogizing President Roosevelt, regards the dispatch of the American fleet to the Pacific as a demonstration of the views enunciated in his presidential message.

"His attitude," says the Times, "must command the respect and approbation of Englishmen. We admire the resolution with which he clings to his naval policy not less than the broad wisdom by which it is inspired."

The Times proceeds to confess that the misgivings which it formerly expressed on the inopportune of the cruise have been dispelled by Secretary Taft's visit to the Far East and the admirable temper and restraint shown by the Japanese government and people.

POWERS ON THE STAND.

Defendant in Murder Trial Testifies in His Own Behalf.

Georgetown, Ky., Dec. 17.—Caleb Powers, accused of the murder of William E. Goebel, testified in his own behalf.

The witness frankly admitted his connection with the "mountain army," which, he said, was organized for moral effect on the election contest then pending at Frankfort and there was no threat or intimidation of violence and no instructions given to the mountaineers as to any threatened trouble.

The famous Marlin rifle with which the shot that killed William Goebel is alleged to have been fired, may be produced in court, despite the fact that it has not been in evidence since the day Goebel was shot.

In answer to the questions put to Powers it developed that Powers had made an effort since 1903, when he was last tried, to find the Marlin rifle with which Goebel was killed; that he has succeeded; that he has not possession of the rifle, but that he has the gun in Georgetown.

Speculation is rife as to what can be developed from the discovery of the missing weapon.

On the day of the Berry-Van Meter contest, Powers testified that he saw Youtsey with a gun over his knees sitting at a window after Powers had unlocked the door of his own office. He said he was surprised and asked Youtsey what he was doing. Youtsey, he alleged, replied: "Nothing much," but that "he was looking for trouble in the house of representatives and wanted to be prepared."

DENOUNCES THE PRESIDENT

Senator Tillman Delivers an Address in the Senate.

Washington, Dec. 17.—A speech by Senator Tillman, filled with denunciation of the president, the secretary of the treasury and the department of justice, of financiers and "captains of industry," was the chief subject of interest in the senate. His remarks were based on his resolutions directing an investigation by the committee on finance of the recent bond issues by the treasury department and of the issuance of clearing house certificates throughout the country.

Senator Culberson introduced a resolution directing a congressional investigation of the cause of the present financial stringency and calling on the committee on finance of the senate to recommend measures for the immediate relief of the country. He desired to have this resolution considered at once, but in the absence of Senator Aldrich, chairman of the committee on finance, it was allowed to go over. A number of other bills were introduced.

The house session was limited to twenty-five minutes, and little business beyond the introduction of bills was transacted. The speaker announced the appointment of the committee on appropriations. Both houses agreed to adjourn on Saturday for the Christmas holidays, the recess to continue until Jan. 6. The house then adjourned until Thursday.

WEATHER FORECAST

Generally fair tonight and Wednesday, colder tonight.

THE sultan of Turkey has pawned the jewels of his harem for $250,000, which shows that Christmas cheer and Santa Claus makes the best of them dig.

AND now Gov. Johnson says he did not say that and that Mr. Mayo, of Rochester hospital fame, must have been misquoted. It is really hard work keeping one's name before the people all the time and its a good advertising manager that can do it.

JOHN H. SMITH, of Detroit, a widely known politician and business man, died at his home yesterday from a complication of diseases. He represented the Sixtieth district, composed of the counties of Becker, Clay and Wilkin, as senator for several terms.

HAVE you bought that Christmas present yet, and more important still, have you mailed it? Packages sent at the last moment are more than liable to get lost for a time in the congestion of mail that always accumulates at this season of the year, and a Christmas present not received on time loses half its pleasure.

A DETROIT, Michigan, man has sued for a divorce on the grounds that his wife insists on taking a pug dog to bed with them and that the dog snores. He has evidently heard the saying "Laugh and the world laughs with you,

The quarantine at the Northern Pacific sanitarium has been raised. The quarantine was purely precautionary, as the cases of diphtheria which developed there were at once transferred to the isolated ward prepared for contagious diseases and there has been no contagious disease in the hospital for nearly or quite ten days. All the cases in the isolated ward are getting along nicely. Miss Manning, one of the nurses who was sick, having recovered and left for her home in Fergus Falls to recuperate.

OLD TIN CANS.

The Way They Finally Disappear From Human Sight.

Few people realize what becomes of all the old tin cans, tin pans, kettles, buckets, coal hods and the like. They finally disappear from human sight and knowledge and are seen no more. Science shows that they evaporate. When a tin can is cast away and forsaken it begins its downward course by becoming rusty. The tin oxidizes or, in other words, unites with the oxygen surrounding it in the atmosphere, and the oxide of tin gradually takes leave of the iron by evaporating into the air, while some of it is washed away by the rain into the earth. After the tin is gone the iron of the can follows the same course that has been pursued by the tin. It oxidizes and becomes the familiar reddish brown substance known as iron rust. The metals have no wills of their own, no affinities, no understandings, and therefore no intentions as to their present or future course. They do nothing of themselves. But electrical forces do their work for them. These forces unite the atoms of the metals with those of the oxygen. Then the molecules of these oxides are carried away by the atmospheric electricity and disposed of according to circumstances.

If a small bottle or other piece of glass is placed on damp ground and an old wornout the bucket is turned over it, the particles of iron oxide will be taken away by electric currents from the old bucket and will be deposited partly on the glass, the remainder going into the air and the earth. Deposits of iron and other metals are thus carried around by electricity in the atmosphere from place to place all over the earth. Chlorine by electric power picks up atoms of gold and goes with them to the ocean, where they are as much at home as salt. All metals can exist in a state of vapor; therefore they are to be found not only in the atmosphere around this earth, but also in the atmosphere around the sun and the stars. If a ray of sunlight is bent out of its course, as it is by drops of water in the case of the rainbow, the familiar seven colors of red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet are spread out side by side. When these spectra or streaks of light are scientifically investigated about 500 dark lines are formed also among the colors, and these lines represent shadows cast by elemental substances in the atmospheres of the earth and the sun. Light made artificially and not passing through the atmosphere of the earth and the sun does not have these dark lines.

By means of the spectroscope, a gradually invented instrument now in use, but credited to several scientists, well known elements have been compelled to register their addresses in bands of light. Among the first to write themselves down were sodium, potassium, magnesium, calcium, chromium, nickel and iron. And the same apparatus led to the discovery of new metals, such as cesium, rubidium and thallium. All these are found to be in the sun's atmosphere. By means of the spectroscope the one hundred millionth part of a grain of sodium in common salt becomes as discernible and unmistakable as the side of a house. This wonderful modern instrument has enabled scientists to find out what the people who inhabit the planets in the solar system of the dog star Sirius, for example, have to eat, for without nitrogen they could have no beans or spring peas, without sulphur no mustard, horseradish and water cresses or anything of the kind, although the people would be confined to vegetable diet. They would also be without light biscuit for breakfast or any fermented liquors.—Baltimore American.

RECEIVED BY COMMISSION

Allegations of the Mine Owners' Association of Goldfield Will Be Considered—Organization Declared to Be Treasonable.

Goldfield, Nov., Dec. 17.—The Goldfield Mine Owners' association has submitted a statement to the commission which President Roosevelt has sent to Goldfield, which declares that the Western Federation of Miners is not a labor organization, but a combination in restraint of trade; that it is in fact a treasonable organization and in the statement are quotations from the preamble, constitution and by-laws of the Western Federation of Miners in support of the contention. This statement has been officially received by the commission and the consideration of it soon will be begun. The commission spent one day in going over the information obtained by General Funston and Governor Sparks.

General Funston and Governor Sparks will leave Goldfield this week, General Funston to return to San Francisco and Governor Sparks to go to his ranch to recuperate.

President McKinnon of the Goldfield Miners' union was called before the commission and asked to give his version of the trouble.

No intimation of what passed during the session was given out, but after the meeting it was learned that President McKinnon stated to the members of the commission that the members of the Western Federation of Miners at all times, and was emphatic in his declaration that no necessity has existed for the presence of federal troops. He has promised to prepare a comprehensive statement of the Western Federation side of the controversy to be presented later.

Have Been Peaceably Inclined

Charles P. Neill, labor commissioner; Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, and Lawrence O. Murray, assistant secretary of the department of commerce and labor, declined to make any statement regarding the result of their investigations, but from the Mine Owners' association a statement as to their contentions to the committee was obtained. The mine owners suggest the bringing of a suit against the Western Federation of Miners by the government for the dissolution of that organization as a trust, combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade among the states, and also the bringing of criminal proceedings on the same grounds.

The investigation that will be made by the commission will require at least two weeks' time and during that period the control of affairs in Goldfield, as far as the government is concerned, will be practically in the hands of the commission.

Pickets of the union are still patrolling the mines, but there have been no reports of interference with the men at work.

FATAL DUEL ON A STREET

Mississippi Men Quarrel and One of Them Is Killed.

Laurel, Miss., Dec. 17.—A deliberately planned and sensational duel occurred on the main street of Laurel in which Edward Bragg was killed and B. W. Sharborough, former state senator, was wounded.

Each time the witness answered "No."

Mr. Darrow has not yet concluded his cross-examination. Mr. Hawley stated to the court that the state would finish its case by next Thursday. Witnesses for the defense were therefore subpoenaed to appear Friday of next week.

Farsighted Economy

Mrs. Wipedunks—Jenkinson, we ought to take one of the first class magazines. It's only $4 a year, and the children are getting old enough now to have something good to read.

Mr. Wipedunks—Only $4 a year! That's all, is it? If you begin on magazines you'll think you have to keep it up.

At the end of every year you'll want to have 'em bound. There's two volumes in a year. Costs $1 a volume for binding. That makes $6 a year. In ten years it's $60. Then you'll want a bookcase to hold the twenty volumes. That'll cost about $25 because you'll think it ought to be big enough to hold the twenty more volumes. There's $85 thrown away. Do you think I'm made of money? If you want to read the news, what's the matter with borrowing 'em?—Chicago Tribune.

A Great Telescope.

A number of persons were talking about telescopes, and each professed to have looked through the "largest in the world." One after another told of the powerful effect of the respective telescopes. At last a quiet man said mildly: "I once looked through a telescope. I don't know that it was the largest in the world. I hope it wasn't. But it brought the moon so near that we could see the man in it gestulating wildly and crying out: 'Don't shoot! Don't shoot!' The old duffer thought it was a big cannon that we were pointing at him." The quiet man subsided and so did all the rest.

RIOTING IN HAVANA.

Five Men Shot and a Dozen Others Wounded in Various Ways.

Havana, Dec. 17.—After a meeting in which fiery speeches were made, the striking masons attacked the men who had taken their places and a serious riot ensued. Five men were shot and twelve others were wounded in various ways. The police reserves were hastily summoned to quell the riot and used their pistols freely. They made a large number of arrests.

Another meeting of the strikers was called, which is still in progress, and more trouble is feared.

The first meeting was held to consider a proposition of the builders to grant a nine-hour day, which the strikers indignantly rejected.

Negroes Killing Italians.

Monroe, La., Dec. 17.—Another Italian has been killed near Tremont, La., by negroes, making three Italians to lose their lives on account of prejudice against their replacing local lumber mill labor at Chathamville, La. Two other Italians were wounded near Chathamville and twenty-six were robbed.

CLARENCE DARROW ILL.

Pettibone's Chief Counsel Unable to Appear in Court.

Boise, Ida., Dec. 17.—Documentary evidence in corroboration of Harry Orchard's testimony was introduced at the Pettibone trial by the prosecution. Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, was taken sick and was not present in court. Edgar Wilson taking his place. On account of Darrow's absence, Orchard was not asked impeaching questions, and the state postponed its redirect examination.

Judge Luther M. Goddard was the most important witness for the state. He told of the finding of the bomb which Orchard testified had been planted near his gate for the purpose of killing him.

The testimony of former Sheriff Nichols of Caldwell proved disastrous to the state. After he had told of receiving a letter addressed to Thomas Hogan, copying it and giving the original to Orchard, he testified on cross-examination that the letter was not in the handwriting of George A. Pettibone, the defendant. He said he became familiar with Pettibone's writing while the defendant was in jail at Caldwell. Orchard had testified that this letter was written by Pettibone. On redirect examination Nichols failed to identify the handwriting of Haywood, with which he said he was also familiar, stating that it looked like that of Pettibone.

PRISONERS ARE LIBERATED

British Minister Intervenes in Behalf of Persian Statesmen.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 17.—On the intervention of the British minister, Premier Nasir El Mulk and the minister of the interior, Sanin El Dowleh, who were arrested Sunday on the orders of the shah, have been liberated. The former premier has started for Europe in exile.

It has been learned that the shah had prepared a coup d'état. It was his intention to hold the ministers in prison, expel the Constitutionalist leaders and dissolve parliament, but the plan failed.

After the arrest of the ministers, parliament went into session and demanded an explanation of the shah's action. Negotiations are now going on between the shah and the parliament, and it is believed an understanding will be reached. A new cabinet is in process of formation.

Costly Fire in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Dec. 17.—Fire in the upper floors of the Syndicate arcade, 1515 Nicollet avenue, threatened some of the most valuable Minneapolis retail and business property. Prompt work on the part of the firemen alone saved the big building. A high wind fanned the flames into a fury. The total damage by fire and water will amount to about $30,000. The Young-Quinlan company, ladies' furnishers, directly under the fire, suffered the most from water that came through the floors and drenched the entire building.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

The condition of E. H. Harriman, who is suffering from an attack of the grippe, is very much improved.

Mrs. Alexander Gillour, formerly Miss Ethel Watterson, the youngest daughter of Colonel Henry Watterson, is dead at Louisville, Ky.

A six-day walking match, with contestants entered from various parts of the country, is to be held in Kansas City, Mo., commencing Monday night, Jan. 27.

At Kansas City, Mo., Charles Conkle of Hamilton, Ont., threw Eugene Trembley of Montreal, champion lightweight wrestler of Canada, twice in forty-five minutes, catch-as-catch-can style.

CONDITIONS GOOD IN ALASKA

O. C. Foster Speaks of Conditions in Northern Country to Dispatch

WILL WINTER IN MEXICO

After Visit in Minnesota Until After Holiday he and Wife Will Travel There

Oscar C. Foster, formerly of this city, but now a wealthy mine owner of Nome, Alaska, who arrived in the city Monday was seen by a DISPATCH reporter that afternoon. Mr. Foster, who is accompanied by his wife, left Alaska the 15th day of October, arriving in Seattle the 22nd of the same month, since which time he has been in the states, as Alaskans term them. Mr. Foster stated that at the time he left there had been no signs of the financial flurries which have agitated this section of the country and while he had had but one letter from there since leaving he could see no reason why that section should be affected by conditions here. The country there was prosperous and the output of the mines large this year and everything was going on finely.

Mr. J. A. Batchelder, of this city, who went to Nome last June he reported as prospering. Mr. Batchelder has a fine position as assistant manager of a large bank there in which Mr. Foster is heavily interested and except for the fact that he is rather lonesome for his family he likes it there.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster after a brief visit here will go to Duluth and then to Rushford, Minn., where they will spend Christmas with Mrs. Foster's relatives. They will return to Brainerd for a short visit after the New Year and will then go to old Mexico to spend the balance of the winter seeing the sights and enjoying the mild climate. They will probably return to Alaska on the first boat leaving Seattle next spring for Nome.

Christian Endeavor Election

The Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church elected the following officers for the ensuing term:

Pres.—Rev. J. F. McLeod.
Vice Pres.—Ernest Gardner.
Rec. Sec.—Miss Georgia Brown.
Cor. Sec.—Mrs. F. Luken.
Treas.—Mrs. J. S. Robertson.
Organist—Miss Tressia Schultz.
Chairman prayer meeting committee—Mrs. J. F. McLeod.

Chairman look-out committee—Mrs. F. Luken.

Chairman social committee—Miss Jennie Horner.

Chairman missionary committee—Mrs. J. S. Robertson.

Chairman music committee—Miss Alma Brown.

Timing the Chauffeurs.

"You will never break up automobile speedling by timing the automobiles," bantered the stranger in the goggles.

"Maybe not, neighbor," drawled the rural constable with the huge star, "but we have broken up a lot of speedling by timing the chauffeurs."

"Timing the chauffeurs?"

"Yes, giving them sixty days' time in the county jail."—Kansas City Independent.

JURY DISAGREED

Suspense as to Who or What Broke Up the Elmore Home Must be Endured Still Longer

The jury in the case of Elmore vs. Gilbert, after wrestling with the facts in the case all Monday night, as well as most of the forenoon of that day, decided that they could not agree and asked to be discharged. Judge McClenahan evidently thought there was no use keeping them longer and discharged them. The case will not be retried before next term. Meanwhile the public will be compelled to remain in suspense as to whether the breaking up of Elmore's family was caused by his cruelty to and neglect of his wife or because of the machinations of her parents.

PUSHING THE CANVASS

Work of Hustling for Membership in Y. M. C. A. is Being Pushed Today Throughout the City

The one day campaign for the securing of membership in the Y. M. C. A. is being pushed today and a good sized group of both young men and business men are working hard to reach the 500 mark with the membership. The work will be carried on until well into the evening and some memberships are being phoned to headquarters by different individuals. Applications will be received either by phone or in person up to 9:30 tonight and will be equally welcome tomorrow.

Notice

The electric light committee of the city council, together with the superintendent of electric lights, most earnestly request the users of electric lights, not to burn any more than are necessary, during holiday week. The machines are now carrying 30 per cent overload, and should more lights be added, it would be impossible to keep up the voltage, and will also be apt to burn out the electric machines and cause a shut-down, just when lights are most needed. Should EVERY ONE comply with this request, there will be no difficulty in carrying you through.

Yours most respectfully,
H. H. BAKER,
F. A. FARRAR,
FELIX GRAHAM.

Badly Mixed Up

Abraham Brown, of Wintertown, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience, he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me; one said heart disease, the fourth, blood poison, and the fifth, stomach and liver trouble, but none of them helped me, so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters, which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the five doctors prescribed." Guaranteed for blood poison, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints by H. P. Dunn, druggist. 50c. mwf

VOTE TO PAVE EAST OAK STREET

Resolution Passed by Council Authorizing the Paving of That Street

STONE HAS BEEN OFFERED

Property Owners East of City Offer to Donate Rock to Assist in Work

All members of the city council were present Monday evening when President Johnson called it to order except Alderman Bouck. Alderman Fogelstrom from the committee on streets, sidewalks and bridges reported that the building purchased for use as a store house had been moved to a location just west of the central hose house.

Alderman Farrar reported on behalf of the finance committee in regard to the electric light bonds to become due January 1st and advised the preparing of a circular to the trust company in charge of the bonds guaranteeing the interest at six per cent for one year. City attorney Polk prepared a resolution covering such a guarantee to be passed by the council and signed by the mayor and clerk. The resolution was on motion passed, all voting aye on roll call.

Alderman Toohey reported that Mr. Lum had let the contract for repairing the Rhodes building. Alderman Fogelstrom told him that it was damaged 50 per cent and Mr. Lum said he did not care what the city thought.

Alderman Toohey thought that there were too many wood buildings near it and it was no place for a shed. Mr. Lum told White Bros. he had let the job. White Bros. refused to do the work. The president of the council read a letter from Mr. Lum bearing on the subject. Alderman Toohey said that it was impossible to repair it for $250 or $275 and moved that the report of the fire committee be accepted and that the request of Mr. Lum be not granted. Carried. City Attorney Polk asked that the matter be laid over until next meeting as he thought it would require a resolution declaring the structure a nuisance and that it is damaged more than 50 per cent.

The bill of the Minnesota Water Works company for $3,075 for hydrant rental was on motion allowed.

On motion the bond of the city weighmaster in the sum of $500 was accepted and approved.

J. B. Sowl, 924 Front street appeared before the council and complained of the obstruction of Front and Tenth streets by ties, etc. He stated that the street was so obstructed with stuff that teams could hardly pass. He had lost the sale of his place because of the condition of the street. Mayor Wise stated that he would look after the matter.

The man who had taken a license for a shooting gallery in the Kenyon store room on Front street asked a rebate on the $25 license he had paid as he intended to stay only a month. The matter was referred to the city attorney. A resolution was introduced and adopted unanimously abating and canceling the assessment against lot 1, block 16, owned by the Northern Pacific railway company, which was levied for macadamizing a part of North Broadway, upon the offer of the company to pay all the assessment against lot 12, block 18, amounting to $239.55.

Alderman Farrar asked to be excused and left the council chamber.

Mayor Wise reported the appointment of Mrs. W. H. Gemmill on the library board vice Mrs. J. P. Early who had removed from the city. The appointment was unanimously confirmed.

A resolution was introduced providing for the paving of East Oak street from the east line of Sixth street to the east line of Nineteenth street, paving to be 35 feet wide with cement curb on each side and from the east line of Nineteenth street to the city limits twenty feet wide without curbing. Alderman Zakariasen moved that the resolution be adopted, which was seconded by Alderman Fogelstrom and upon roll call all voted aye except President Johnson, who voted no. Alderman Fogelstrom suggested that the curb turn but one foot at the street crossings to save expense.

A petition to the mayor and city council was presented asking that Oak street be paved and agreeing to give rock on or before the 1st of June, 1908. If paving is not done before January 1st, 1909, then the city must pay $4 per cord. Alderman Zakariasen said that he thought he could get 60 cords more. City Treasurer Wright asked Alderman Fogelstrom where the money was to come from. Alderman Fogelstrom replied by a query as to why it could not come from the Sixth street assessments. Mr. Wright replied that the money had been taken from the general fund and is being replaced there as rapidly as it comes in. Alderman Fogelstrom stated that he could get rock hauled from the poor farm for $2 a cord and that three of the county commissioners would vote to donate rock for that purpose. There are 300 cords of stone there and the city has two teams and can get a man to drive one of them.

City Treasurer Wright said he would like to see that street paved but there will have to be a different deal than we have made. There will be but about $26,000 coming in next year and if we put that all out on the street in about three months how will the city be run. Alderman Fogelstrom moved that the petition be accepted and the motion was seconded by Alderman Zakariasen and carried.

The question of how much rock to purchase then came up. Alderman Fogelstrom thought there should be 1,000 cords purchased and Alderman Baker thought 500 would be sufficient. Alderman Drexler moved to purchase 500 cords, which was adopted. City Treasurer Wright thought that they should not be paid for until July 10 and that was agreed upon. The price was fixed at $4.00 per cord of 14,000 pounds.

Alderman Fogelstrom moved that a committee of three be appointed to wait on the county commissioners and see if they will give rock for the paving of Oak street. Carried. The president appointed Alderman Fogelstrom, Zakariasen and Baker as such committee.

Goodman McTaggart

Mr. John Goodman and Miss Ethel McTaggart, both of Bemidji, were united in matrimony by Rev. J. F. McLeod at the Presbyterian manse Monday afternoon, December 16. Miss Cora Davis, of this city, was bridesmaid and Martin Linden, of Bemidji, officiated as best man. The ceremony was witnessed only by a few intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white crepe du chene and wore lilies of the valley in her hair. She also carried bridal roses. Miss Davis wore Nile green crepe du chene and carried pink roses. The groom and his attendant were in conventional black. The happy couple left the same evening for Chicago where they will visit for a few days before returning to Bemidji, where they will make their future home. The bride had quite a circle of friends in Brainerd who will wish her long life and happiness.

A Real Wonderland

South Dakota, with its rich silver mines, bonanza farms, wide ranges and strange natural formations, is a veritable wonderland. At Mount City, in the home of Mrs. E. D. Clapp, a wonderful case of healing has lately occurred. Her son seemed near death with lung and throat trouble. "Exhausting coughing spells occurred every five minutes," writes Mrs. Clapp, "when I began giving Dr. King's New Discovery, the great medicine, that saved his life and completely cured him." Guaranteed for coughs and colds, throat and lung troubles, by H. P. Dunn, druggist. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

On motion the bond of the city weighmaster in the sum of $500 was accepted and approved.

J. B. Sowl, 924 Front street appeared before the council and complained of the obstruction of Front and Tenth streets by ties, etc. He stated that the street was so obstructed with stuff that teams could hardly pass. He had lost the sale of his place because of the condition of the street. Mayor Wise stated that he would look after the matter.

The man who had taken a license for a shooting gallery in the Kenyon store room on Front street asked a rebate on the $25 license he had paid as he intended to stay only a month. The matter was referred to the city attorney. His offer to import a specially organized camorra, which should consist chiefly of the relatives of the singer, was the result of an advertisement that appeared last summer in an Italian newspaper published in New York. This was written in the form of an announcement that the tenor was determined to leave the Metropolitan Opera House, as he was powerless to resist the efforts of the clique working against him there.

As an evidence of its malevolence it recited that Signor Caruso, being suddenly faint in his dressing room at the Metropolitan, had called for a popular Italian remedy which he was accustomed to take. Instead of this he received another medicine, which made him so much worse that he could scarcely get through the performance. The article ended by saying that Signor Caruso, as well as everybody with the price, could get the medicine he desired at a certain Italian drug store.

This newspaper drifted back to Italy and came under the eye of one of the very large number of the singer's relatives. They don't print advertisements of that kind in Sicily, but they do understand what a clique is, so the uncle called a meeting of all the members of the family residing in the hills of Sicily. They decided unanimously to come over and fight for the tenor whenever it was necessary.

The letter which Signor Caruso showed to his friends contained a promise to bring over as many of the Sicilian relatives as the tenor thought would be necessary to protect him against his enemies. They are prepared to start as soon as the word arrives. Signor Caruso says he does not need them just yet.

Assembly of Wise Men.

The witenagemot, or assembly of wise men, out of which the British parliament grew, was brought over to England by the Anglo-Saxons from their old home in Germany. Such council was originally held in each of the kingdoms of the heptarchy, but after the union of the kingdoms in a single nation under Edgar about 960 the witenagemot became the deliberative and legislative body of the nation.

The Gingerbread Man

The musical extravaganza, the "Gingerbread Man," which was produced at the opera house last evening was a success from a musical and artistic point of view. The singing was much better than that was in the "Land of Nod." Carrick Major, who impersonated Machaivalus Fudge, had one of the finest baritone voices heard in Brainerd in a long time and several other members of the cast had good vocal abilities. The comedians were better than the average and the scenic effects and costuming were good.

What He Felt Like.

It was the first time he had sung in an Episcopal choir, and he felt strange out of place in the vestments he wore. The other choristers looked comfortable enough, but the new one was sure he would trip on the skirts of his cassock when he went up the chancel steps, and he knew that if he did not stop perspiring his clean linen coat would be sadly mussed.

The opening prayer had been intoned by the rector, and the singers were in line waiting for the introduction to the processional to be played, when one of the basses whispered in the new man's ear:

"You're a tenor, aren't you?"

"I suppose so," he replied, "but I feel like a twospot."—New York Times.

Transferring Alfalfa Soil.

"The latest wrinkle in Kansas real estate transfers," said Representative William Reeder of the Sixth district of Kansas to a representative of the Washington Post, "is the purchase of top soil from alfalfa fields in north central Kansas, to be shipped by the carload to farms along the Missouri river, where it is difficult to get this forage plant started. Like all leguminous plants, alfalfa fertilizes the soil, and in the Kaw valley an old alfalfa field is expected to yield seven bushels of corn to the acre. Bailey Waggoner, a lawyer of Atchison, recently shipped a carload of top soil from Cloud county to his farm in Atchison county."

Ware Your Friend's Plants.

"If you have a friend going away for the summer," said the woman of experience, "don't keep a plant for her. The thing will probably die away, and you would consider yourself responsible. I worried through six weeks one summer tending a plant for a friend and then was invited to the country for a week end. I stayed two days in addition. Of course the plant was dead when I came back, and my outing was half spoiled by worrying over it. I bought a duplicate of it the day before my friend returned, and it cost me $2. Even then she said she thought it looked somewhat peaked."—Exchange.

Cheap Cheer.

A charitable man dropped a nickel in a blind beggar's hat and exclaimed in a benevolent voice, "There, my poor fellow, is a quarter for you."

"Why on earth," said the man's companion, "did you give him a nickel and say it was a quarter?"

"Oh, was the reply, "I wanted to cheer him up."—Argonaut.

MANY MINERS KILLED

Between Forty and Sixty Meet Death in Alabama.

EXACT NUMBER NOT KNOWN

Bodies of Several of the Victims Have Been Recovered, But the Work of Rescue Is Slow—Cause of Disaster Not Yet Ascertained.

Yolande, Ala., Dec. 17.—Not since the disastrous Virginia City mine explosion eight miles north of here two years ago, has there occurred another such as that which took place in No. 1 mine of the Yolande Coal and Coke company. It is impossible to tell how many are dead as a result of the explosion, the estimates varying all the way from forty to sixty.

The work of rescue has been extremely slow because of the debris in the mines, and the large crowd of women, children and sightseers at the opening. The explosion is now known to have occurred in either the fifth or sixth right entrance. All of the bodies have been recovered from these entrances and some of them were so horribly mutilated that identification is almost impossible. The list of dead recovered and identified so far follows:

Robert Arnold, general mine foreman; Will Tower, Tom Newell, A. B. Rengo, Sam Wright, W. R. Stover, Neil Reider, engineer; Charles Satterfield, John Madison, John Tucker, Ed Jones and Anthony Stover, all white; Sam Watson, Nat Humphreys, Roland Jackson, P. Franklin, Pink Colan, Sam Bud and Jim Smith, all colored.

According to Superintendent T. C. Huckabee, the explosion was undoubtedly due to "windy shots."

Mr. Huckabee had just made a tour of inspection and congratulated some of the men on the condition of their rooms. A few minutes after reaching the top, he saddled his horse and was about to go for a day's hunt when the explosion occurred.

Parties of miners from Aerata, Searles, Davis Creek and Brookwood are here ready to help in the recovery of those who are still entombed.

There is but little evidence of the disaster to be seen from the outside.

Under the supervision of Chief Mine Inspector J. M. Gray and his assistant, James Hillhouse, forces are at work in the slope clearing away the wreckage and recovering the dead from the lower cross entrance.

The inspectors have made no statement of the cause of the disaster.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Young New York Man Kills a Woman and Himself.

New York, Dec. 17.—A murder and suicide in an automobile cab occurred in the streets of Brooklyn. The victims in the tragedy were Elsie Kerlin, a telegraph operator, twenty-two years old, and Bernard E. Wallace, eighteen years old, who had been employed by the Commercial Cable company in city. No cause for the tragedy is known, but it is probable that it is the result of a love affair.

The couple were in this city and Wallace hired an automobile cab in front of the Hotel Knickerbocker, instructing the chauffeur to drive across the Williamsburg bridge and into Brooklyn. The chauffeur says that after reaching Brooklyn he was instructed to drive down Eastern Parkway. After reaching that boulevard he heard two shots inside the cab. Hastily throwing on the brakes he stopped the vehicle and, opening the door, found the woman lying on the floor with a bullet in her right temple, barely alive. The man had died instantly from a bullet wound in the mouth. The police say Wallace shot the young woman and then killed himself.

Miss Kerlin died soon after being removed from the cab.

POISON KILLS THREE.

Canned Goods Are Believed to Have Been Eaten by Family.

Miller, S. D., Dec. 17.—Coroner Walls has been called to a farm twenty-five miles northeast of here, where an aged woman and her son, named Kammel, are dying. The cause is not known, though it is said to be due to eating canned goods. An inquest will be held.

Railroad Man a Suicide.

Minneapolis, Dec. 17.—Henry Clarke, who it is thought came to Minneapolis from Milwaukee a week ago, committed suicide by taking morphine in a room at the Mankato House. Clarke is said to have been a railroad employee. Clarke apparently was in good spirits when he retired and no reason is assigned for the suicide. An empty bottle labelled "morphine" was found in his room.

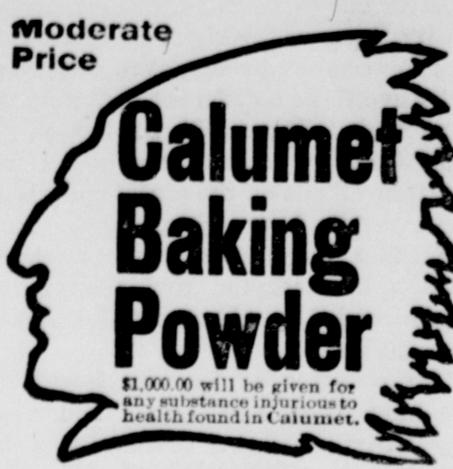

Killed by a Chunk of Dirt.

Hannah, N. D., Dec. 17.—August Dradger, an employee of the Great Northern, aged about twenty-five years, was killed near Hannah by a chunk of frozen dirt striking him on the head and fracturing his skull, following an explosion of dynamite.

King Leopold Injured.

Brussels, Dec. 17.—It is rumored here that King Leopold received a severe burn on the leg while undergoing a heat bath treatment in Paris recently. The king's private physician has been summoned to that city.

LAWS AGAINST TOBACCO.

Early Legislation to Restrict the Use of the Weed.

One of the curiosities of early colonial legislation is the laws enacted against the planting and the use of tobacco. Evidently the magistrates and elders of those days regarded that "creature called tobacco" as one of the many emissaries of the devil, against whom it was their duty to wage constant warfare. The planting of it was forbidden except in small quantities to be used "for mere necessity, for physic, for perservacion of the health, and that the same may be taken privately by ancient men."

All keepers of hotels and other public places were ordered not to "suffer any tobacco to be taken into their houses." If they disobeyed the order, they were required to pay a fine to the "victualler" and one also to "party that takes it."

At little later the law was changed so that it was forbidden to "take tobacco in any wine or common victual house except in a private room there, so as the master of said house nor any guest there shall take offense therat, which, if they do, the said person shall forfeit upon pain of 2 shillings sixpence for every such offense."

No one was permitted to use tobacco "publicly," not even in his own house, in the presence of strangers. It was against the law for two men to smoke together. In Windsor every user of tobacco was required to procure a physician's certificate before he was permitted to enjoy the obnoxious weed. All smoking was forbidden within two miles of a meeting house on the Sabbath day. Connecticut, as a great indulgence to travelers, allowed a man to smoke once during a journey of ten miles made not by trains, but afoot or by horse locomotion.—New York Press.

A Tough Game.

Jack—Say, Bill, we've been in hard luck lately, ain't we?

Bill—We have, old man.

Jack—I'll tell you what we'll do. You insure your life in my favor for $10,000, and I'll do the same for you.

Bill—Well, what good'll that do us?

Jack—Why, we'll just load up our guns and step off thirty paces somewhere and see who gets the money.

DEAF FARMER KILLED.

Posse Is Searching for the Paroled Convict Who Committed Crime.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Dec. 17.—Owing to the fact that he was deaf, thus being unable to hear the approach of his slayer or his wife's cries of warning, Kinney Siford, a farmer, was chopped in the top of the head with an axe and killed by Luther Baggott, a paroled convict. Siford was milking when attacked. A posse is searching a swamp for Baggott. Domestic affairs caused the crime.

Negro Minstrel Lynched.

Shreveport, La., Dec. 17.—A negro member of a traveling minstrel troupe, who gave his name as Homer Rogers, was hanged by a mob in Morehouse parish and his body riddled with bullets. Rogers resented a remark made by a white man, declaring that he was a "Yankee nigger and did not take any impudence."

PISO'S
Consuming Consumption

even in its most insidious form is not always incurable. The first intelligent step in the treatment of the disease is to stop the violent paroxysms of coughing which tear the lungs and enfeeble the system. Piso's Cure has permanently cured many consumptive coughs, as shown by court testimony because its antiseptic, healing and soothing qualities act directly on the lungs and bronchial passages, stopping the coughing and gently healing the lacerated tissues. Even the most advanced consumptive coughs have responded quickly to Piso's Cure, which being absolutely free from opiums or habit-forming drugs is the ideal remedy for every form of coughs, colds, bronchitis in young and old. For nearly half a century Piso's Cure has been demonstrating that the most advanced form of chest affections

LIFE IN WASHINGTON.

Incidents That Depict Phases of Its Lighter Side.

SURPRISE FOR W. M. STEWART

Ex-Senator of Nevada Receives Flattering Offer to Play Part of Santa Claus in Big Store—Negress' Opinion of the Alibi Club—Girl's Quick Wit.

Ex-Senator William M. Stewart of Nevada is a physical giant and wears a patriarchal beard of snowy whiteness and unusual length. While walking down F street, in Washington, the other day, mingling with the busy shoppers, he was approached earnestly by a bareheaded man who came out of a big department store, says a Washington special dispatch to the New York Times. Without any preliminary whatever the stranger said: "I don't know who you are, but I judge you would not be averse to earning $50 a week until Christmas. I am willing to give you that sum if you will sit in our toy window four hours a day. All you will have to do is to wear a Santa Claus suit and smile at the children as they go by."

When the senator had recovered from his surprise he replied: "Young man, you have given me a great deal of pleasure. I am glad to know that a man eighty-three years old is still worth $50 a week. However, I have been engaged for the last fifty years in playing Santa Claus for my descendants, and it has kept me occupied, so I guess I will have to turn down your offer, flattering as it is."

The senator did not divulge his identity; neither did he mention the fact that he has recouped a lost fortune in the Nevada gold fields since he left the senate a couple of years ago.

Holding a unique place in the social life of the capital is the Alibi club, an organization of men which has flourished for over a decade, says a Washington special dispatch to the New York World. It occupies a modest three story brick house in H street, and its chief fame rests on the excellence of its cuisine.

From time to time the members assemble about them congenial friends, and once an "Alibi entertainment" is under progress song and laughter are liable to reach the ear of the passerby.

Recently the Alibis were entertaining when a newcomer in the city chanced to pass. Curious as to the cause of such hilarity, the wayfarer accosted an old negress.

"Auntie," she inquired, "is this house occupied by a private family or is it a clubhouse?"

"Honey," replied auntie, "de Halibut club has de haibit house, and de yaint no private folks. Dey's very high up folks—gen'rls and admahables and such folks."

"Halibut club, auntie?" inquired the seeker for information. "Why, halibut is the name of a fish."

"Yas'm, I knows dat's de name ob a man franky. You are very deaf. No lawyer likes to defend a deaf man unless he is hard pushed for clients or is going to receive a tremendously big fee.

A deaf man is so very likely to queer his own case. If he would only trust implicitly to the lawyer he would be all right, but that is something he seldom does. He cannot hear what is going on about him, so he flies into a panic and fancies his lawyer is neglecting his interests, and the first thing anybody knows he blurts out something that ruins the case. I really can't blame those other men for turning you down. I shall do the same thing unless you will promise upon your honor not to speak only when I tell you to."

"D-a-n-i-e-l," spelled the senator. "Did you ever know it to be spelled any other way?" His manner was rather short, but the young lady had identified her customer in the brief orthography lesson and replied sweetly.

"No, senator, I never did, but so many liberties are taken with spelling nowadays that I never even attempt to spell Smith."

The quick wit of a young woman attendant at one of Washington's fashionable photograph studios saved her from a very embarrassing situation the other day, says the Philadelphia Ledger. Senator Daniel dropped in to see some proofs of pictures for which he had sat the day before. The young lady did not recognize the senator and adopted that time worn formula of asking, "How do you spell your name, please?"

"D-a-n-i-e-l," spelled the senator. "Did you ever know it to be spelled any other way?" His manner was rather short, but the young lady had identified her customer in the brief orthography lesson and replied sweetly.

"No, senator, I never did, but so many liberties are taken with spelling nowadays that I never even attempt to spell Smith."

Representative Ames of Massachusetts held the undivided attention of the house for a few minutes the other afternoon with a huge megaphone which he held to his ear, says a Washington special to the St. Louis Post Dispatch.

"You are wrong end foremost there, Ames," said a fellow member sitting near by. "That thing is to talk through."

"That's all right," he replied. "A whole lot of things come in through the big end of the horn. I've got my trap set for what is going out at the other end."

Missouri's Big Ditch.

It is not known by many outside of Bates county, Mo., that a second Panama canal is being dug, says the Sarcoxie Leader. The people of that country decided that something must be done to drain the valuable land of the county, and they set about to do it by raising $370,000 to dig a ditch twenty-three and one-half miles long to straighten the champion of crooked streams, the Marie des Cygnes, which flows through that county. This ditch will be more than half as long as the Panama canal, and the depth at the deepest point it is ninety feet at the bottom and 135 feet at the top. Land in Bates county has been increased in price from $10 to $25 an acre and will yet go higher on account of this drainage ditch. A bridge is to be built across the ditch every two miles.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the lungs, bronchial tubes, and heart.

"Golden Medical Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden cold, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption.
